

TWENTY-EIGHT DEAD AND MANY HURT

DETAILS OF THE NEW YORK CENTRAL DISASTER

Drowned In Hudson River - Passenger Train Plunged Over On the Embankment - Travelers Imprisoned In the Submerged Coaches - Engineer and Firemen Died At Their Post.

Garrison's, N. Y., Oct. 25.—A disastrous railroad accident occurred on the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, a short distance below Garrison's station, early Sunday morning. The train was the State express, due in New York at 7:30 o'clock, and was made up of engine No. 872, a combination baggage and express car, a smoker, two ordinary passenger coaches and four sleepers, in charge of Conductor Parish.

The train left Albany at 3:15 o'clock, on time, and was going at a good rate of speed when it passed Garrison's. It was a mile and a half below here when the accident occurred. Conductor Parish says the track seemed to fall out from under the train, the train seemed to shoot into the air, and the next minute it appeared to fall into the river. Into the slimy waters of the Hudson the cars plunged, dragging through the water the helpless passengers. There was nothing to presage the terrible accident which so suddenly deprived so many human beings of life.

Two cars only were left on the track. The engine did not stop until it lay submerged fifty feet below the surface. The two forward cars followed and were piled upon the engine. The smoker and two following ordinary cars broke from the train and ran some distance along the bank and then into the water. Two of the sleeping cars ran into the river, but fortunately were left only partly under water, the windows toward the shore being left above the surface.

The total number of known dead is nineteen; the estimated number is twenty-eight. Following is a list of the dead so far as ascertained:

E. A. GREENE, Chicago.
THOMAS REILLY, St. Louis.
A. G. M'KAY, private secretary to General Superintendent Van Etten.
JOHN FOYLE, engineer, of East Albany; body not recovered.
JOHN Q. TOMPKINS, fireman, of East Albany; body not recovered.
H. G. MYERS of Tremont, N. Y. WOMAN; unidentified.
WOMAN; unidentified.
GIUSEPPE PADUANO of New York.
S. BECKER, Newark, N. J.
UNKNOWN MAN; died while being rescued.
CHINAMAN; unidentified.

FONG GIM, a Chinaman.

Among the injured are the following: Conductor E. O. Parish of New York; knocked unconscious; severely bruised. Chinaman; bad scalp wound and body bruised; in hospital at Peekskill. Chinaman; face badly cut and legs sprained; in hospital at Peekskill. Frank J. Degan, New York City; body bruised and face cut. Tong Lee; badly bruised and suffering from shock; in hospital at Peekskill. Herman Agner, of Peekskill, baggage man; bruised and head cut. Shaw, express agent, New York, slight bruises. John E. Ryan, Jersey City; badly lacerated arm and leg; in hospital at Peekskill. Clarence Morgan of Aurora, N. Y.; broken shoulder; in hospital at Peekskill. W. S. Langford, Bayonne, N. Y.; body bruised. Charles Buchanan, John Smith and John Flood, taken to Flower Hospital, New York City. A number of others were injured.

Neither engineer nor fireman will ever tell the story of that terrible moment, for, with his hand upon the throttle, the engineer plunged with his engine to the river bottom, and the fireman, too, was at his post. Behind them came the express car, the combination car and the sleepers, and these piled on top of the engine.

It is known that it was a trifle foggy and that the track was not visible, but if there was any break in the lines of steel it must have been of very recent happening, for only an hour before there had passed over it a heavy passenger train laden with human freight.

What seems to have happened was that underneath the tracks and ties the heavy retaining wall had given way and when the great weight of the engine struck the unsupported tracks it went crashing through the rest of the wall and toppled over into the river.

As the train plunged over the embankment the coupling that held the last two of the six sleepers broke and they miraculously remained on the broken track. In that way some sixty lives were saved.

The day coach and smoker had gone down in the deeper water and rescue was impossible. In the latter coach the conditions must have been horrible. The car turned completely over and the passenger end of it was in the deep water, while the baggage end stood up toward the surface. The men in that lower end must have fought like fiends for a brief period, for the bodies when taken out were a mass of wounds.

One of the trainmen who survived the disaster made it his first duty to run to the first signal tower to telegraph for help. The place where the wreck occurred is rather isolated. It is just at the entrance to what is known as King's cut, three miles south of Garrison's and five miles north of Peekskill.

Two other express trains were following close behind the ill-fated state express, and the engine of one of them was sent to Garrison's for General Manager J. M. Toucey, who lives there, while the other engine hurried to Peekskill for medical aid. Mr. Toucey was the first official of the railroad at the scene, reaching there at 7:30. The engine which brought him there steamed to Cold Spring and returned with physicians.

James J. Corbett and other members of "The Naval Cadet" company were on the first south-bound train to arrive at the scene after the accident. "Gentleman Jim" and his sparring partner, John McVey, did good service in rescuing the injured passengers from the wrecked cars and assisted in removing the dead.

General Manager Toucey gave the following statement as the cause of the disaster:

"The accident was caused by the bed of the railroad being washed out in some inexplicable manner. In this undetermined condition the track sank as soon as the weight of the train was put on it, and the embankment giving away, the train was, of course, precipitated into the river. Such conditions as this we have never looked for. Trains have been running over this spot for years and years without accident or difficulty of any kind, and this piece of track was considered as good as any section of the railroad. Not only was the roadbed the hardest kind of an embankment, but it was strengthened by a retaining water wall of solid masonry three feet thick."

Other railroad officials were of the opinion that a quicksand foundation of some kind below the water line was responsible for the sinking of the roadbed.

ITALY HELPS SPAIN.

Desires to Avert Trouble with the United States.

Rome, Oct. 25.—It is believed here that the Italian government is making an effort to help Spain in her threatened troubles with the United States. The Agenzia Libera positively announces as a fact that Italy has proposed to the powers of Europe to offer Spain their mediation to avoid a war with the United States, and that Germany has already replied, positively refusing to enter such a combination. No answer, as far as known, has as yet been received from the other powers. Private advices from Vienna say Austria has no interest in the matter. It is pointed out, however, that Italy belongs to the triple alliance, and that Austria, a member thereof, endeavored to get up an alliance against the United States in behalf of Spain a year ago.

To Prepare a Currency Plan.

Washington, Oct. 25.—When the monetary commission reconvenes, on Nov. 3, it will be ready to begin the preparation of its currency measure and the report that will accompany it. The people generally have responded very freely to the invitation of the commission to contribute their views, and it has received in this way a fair index of public opinion upon the subject in every section of the country. The tenor of the replies received is conservative and demolishes the rather widespread notion that there is a desire among men of this class for the withdrawal of the greenbacks and treasury notes.

BANK THIEF CAUGHT AFTER BEING SHOT

ONE OF THE TRIO OF DARING ROBBERS WOUNDED.

Two Escape With the Booty - Burglars Secure $6,000 In a Midnight Raid at Blairsburg, Iowa - Blowing Open of the Safe Aroused the Citizens of the Town

Blairsburg, Iowa, Oct. 25.—A terrific explosion of dynamite in the State Bank of this place early Sunday morning shattered the great safe, demolished the heavy plate glass windows, wrecked the building and alarmed every resident of the city. Hasty investigation showed that robbers had caused the destruction. In cracking the safe the burglars used ten times as much dynamite as was necessary.

The robbers secured $6,000 in securities and a small sum of money which had not been placed in the time lock safe.

The whole town was alarmed by the explosion. James Connor reached the scene first. He saw the effects of the explosion and the bright light in the bank, and being unarmed, he gave a terrific yell and retreated to the Hotel McNeely, just across the street. It was the yell that frightened the robbers. Although but a short time had elapsed since the first explosion, they had already prepared a charge of dynamite for the small time lock safe.

One robber was shot and caught. He gave his name as Edward Gilcoin. The other two robbers made their escape and, although descriptions of the men have been telegraphed to all the neighboring states, all day they have been unable to find any trace.

Gilcoin, the wounded man, says he never met his companions in the robbery until two days ago in Webster City. Then they told him they had the robbery planned and would take him in as a partner.

The State Bank of Blairsburg is capitalized at $50,000. W. F. Powers of Blairsburg is president and J. C. McNeely vice-president.

GREAT CONSPIRACY TRIAL.

W. H. McIntosh Accused of a Part in DeKalb County (Ind.) Frauds.

Butler, Ind., Oct. 25.—Judge Adair will try W. H. McIntosh at this term of the DeKalb county court. McIntosh is charged with conspiring with several ex-county officials to rob the county of some $50,000. Auditor Bost, Deputy Auditor Dills and ex-Treasurer Sawvel, who are in the penitentiary on the same charge, are to be brought home as witnesses, and some sensational developments are expected. It is intimated that some other prominent people may be implicated in the conspiracy.

It is claimed that Auditor Bost or his deputy, Dills, issued fraudulent county orders; that Treasurer Sawvel would endorse them, and that McIntosh bought these fraudulent orders and shared in the proceeds with the other officials.

Increase in Kansas Bank Deposits.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 25.—Three hundred and seventy-four out of 382 private and state banks of Kansas have made their report to Bank Commissioner John W. The entire deposits of the state are estimated at $42,000,000, which means $30 per capita in available cash—a condition unprecedented.

SPANIARDS SEEM ANXIOUS FOR WAR

SPAIN SHOWS NO DESIRE TO TREAT WITH US AMICABLY.

Thinly Veiled Threats - Note To Be Presented to Washington Will Curtly Announce That There Will Be Trouble If America Is Not Wary London Newspaper Opinion.

Madrid, Oct. 25.—A government note protesting against filibustering will be handed to United States Minister Woodford, probably today. There is no doubt that the government's reply will represent the deep feeling of the nation. The note dwells at length on filibustering and "other material and moral assistance which has chiefly contributed to the rise and duration of the rebellion and which in turn has damaged American interests."

It clearly intimates that Spain cannot continue the "forbearance shown by Senor Canovas del Castillo and the duke of Tetuan during the last two years," and that she now calls upon the American government to "fulfill more strictly in the future the rules and duties of international law, because the success of the new home-rule policy and the speedy pacification of Cuba chiefly depend upon the conduct of the United States."

In the special note to United States Minister Woodford the government declares that Spain has done all in her power to end the war in Cuba, and cites the many sacrifices which have been made by the nation, the number of troops sent to Cuba and the reforms which are to be carried out in the island, which are fully described. The note ends with the statement that "Spain will not admit the right of any foreign power to interfere in any of her affairs."

NO HOPE FOR SPAIN.

Would Be Overmatched in a War with the United States.

London, Oct. 25.—The Standard's editorial says:

"Events have proved that the United States fixed the end of October as the date for Spain to reply to Gen. Woodford's note, and the change of ministry has not bettered the situation as between Spain and the United States. If, as we have difficulty to believe, Spain has threatened to search suspected vessels in Cuban waters in case filibustering continues, it is quite certain that Senor de Lome will be told that Spain would do so at her own peril. It behooves Spain, with cool, dispassionate circumspection, to ask itself what will be the result of hostilities with America. We are thoroughly alive to the courage and patriotism of Spain. But she would be hopelessly overmatched in such a contest.

"We believe it is the idlest of dreams for Spain to hope for assistance from any European power. No doubt the United States would manage to leave with Spain the responsibility of declaring war and Europe has too many burning questions of its own in Europe, Africa and Asia to saddle itself gratuitously with another in the new world."

CRISIS IS AT HAND.

Significant Dispatch from a Correspondent of a London Paper.

London, Oct. 25.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The Spanish press unanimously supports the attitude of the government, which it calls eminently sober and dignified; but the impression is that the controversy with the United States has reached a critical stage, which may be the prelude to a rupture. I spoke with three members of the cabinet to-day who in almost identical words contended that Spain has the right, after her tremendous sacrifices in Cuba, to demand the observance of international neutrality by other nations. One of them added: 'The Gordian knot is the United States, without whose help the rebellion would long ago have been suppressed. We do not want war, but every European nation will approve of our defense of our international rights.' The Spanish naval forces in the Caribbean sea will be strengthened on the pretext of a necessity for increased vigilance on the Cuban coast."

Rains Cause Heavy Loss.

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Reports from the interior show that the heavy rains which fell this week all over the northern part of the state have caused immense loss to farmers and vineyards, and will in all probability put an end to the shipment of grapes to the East. HOME RULE FOR CUBA.

Main Points of Sagasta's Scheme Made Public.

Madrid, Oct. 25.—The Minister for the Colonies, Senor Moret, believes he can count upon the co-operation not only of the autonomists in Cuba and their representatives in Spain, but also upon autonomists now resident in Europe and the United States government. The ministers propose to carry out their program and the advice President Cleveland and Secretary Olney vainly gave Premier Canovas last year. Consequently Cuba will have local government like any American state, universal suffrage for municipal and provincial councils, and an insular parliament that will be first elected this winter directly the electoral lists are properly revised and the courts of justice pronounce on the validity of the elections.

Two Found Dead in a Well.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 25.—Little girls at Derby, in the western part of this county, while on their way to Sunday school, found the dead bodies of Frank Moon and Jane Wells in a well on Moon's farm near that town. Mrs. Wells formerly lived in this city, and obtained a divorce from her husband at the last term of the District court. After obtaining her divorce she went to act as housekeeper for Mr. Moon, the latter's wife having left him a short time before. It is believed their food had been poisoned, and that after they had died the murderer had dragged the bodies to the well and thrown them in.

Berger's Slayer Acquitted.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25.—John Schlegel, who one afternoon in July last in the center of the city shot and killed Dr. A. L. Attempted Train Wreck.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—An attempt was made Saturday at the north edge of Petersburg to wreck the Chicago & Alton "Hummer," probably with the intention of robbery. There is a deep cut there and a tie had been laid across the track and chained down. An extra freight, of which the would-be robbers had no cognizance, came along at 3:30 o'clock in the morning, a short time before the "Hummer" was due, and the rear end of the train struck the obstruction and three cars were wrecked. No one was injured.

Fear American Missionaries.

London, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Constantinople says: "The porte has demanded the recall of the two American missionaries from the province of Aleppo on the pretext that their mission for the distribution of relief is likely to cause disturbances. The United States legation has ignored the demand, and will continue to do so until definite charges are made, being convinced that the demand is merely the first step to a general one, asking for the recall of all missionaries."

WHITE RIBBON WORKERS.

Convention of World's W. C. T. U. at Toronto - Old Officers Re-elected.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 25.—Women who have spun a fine white ribbon around the world tied an extra knot where the ends meet in the pavilion at the Horticultural gardens here Saturday. England and America, Iceland and India, Japan and Egypt, the isles of the sea and remote countries of the earth stood by, and as hands of world's delegates touched, this white strand became animate and "for God and home and every land" took on a newer and stronger meaning.

The pavilion was crowded to the doors and to the topmost galleries. Miss Willard, the world's president, was most warmly greeted. Her address covered in its comprehensive scope reference to the queen's jubilee; to the India famine; to the aid given the Armenians through the efforts of the W. C. T. U., the national society having forwarded $10,000; to the splendid gains in membership and work in all the large auxiliaries; to the need for inebriate-industrial homes; to food reform; to substitute for saloons; to the plans of the Booth-Tuckers for relieving the congested quarters of great cities; closing with important recommendations for the extension of the work, and appreciative tributes to General Neal Dow and other leaders, who have died since the convention met in London. Indians in an Ugly Mood.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 25.—The fact that there is every prospect that congress will open the Indian Territory within the next two years is causing a great deal of uneasiness among the full-bloods. The Indians are restless and becoming still more so every day. In any case of outbreak the government is well prepared to move troops to the scene of trouble. Several companies are held at Fort Gibson, sixty miles from Fort Smith, right on the border of the territory, and the post at Little Rock is only 165 miles away. It is now regarded as almost certain that notwithstanding the failure of the Dawes negotiations the opening of the territory will come within a couple of years.

NEED OF AUTHORITY IN EVERY FIELD

RELIGION ESPECIALLY DEMANDS POSITIVE BASIS.

Rev. R. C. Denison Discusses the Problems That the Church Is Asked to Decide—Changing Life By Changing Heart—Rev. W. A. Hall Speaks on "Faith."

In the Congregational church yesterday morning the pastor spoke on the "Fundamental Question" from the text, "Keep thy heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life." Proverbs 4:23. He said:

We admire naturally anything that has in it the element of positive, authority and decision. We want that quality of positiveness in our physical, in our law and in the business men with whom we deal. But most of all do we feel the need of a position, decisive, fundamental position in the religion we follow. It must speak to us strongly or we cease to listen. What do all the flights of religious oratory and declamation amount to if they do not give a clear idea of what our duty and our hopes are, and if they do not start up inside us a clear impulse to go ahead in our duty and our hope, and so we demand of our religion that it shall have a strong and fundamental thing to say about how we can best fulfill the end of our lives.

In the midst of all the variety of Christian life there can be small wonder that some men and women feel that Christianity is losing that definite and clear word which we have seen the best religion for us must have and we are in danger of losing sight of that simple, central thing which is the heart of the whole matter.

There are some ideas in the world today with which our religion is bound to deal. There is socialism—powerful in Germany and England and growing more so in our own country.

What is socialism and has Christianity anything better, anything deeper? Speaking in the very broadest way, socialism is the effort to improve men's social conditions, it says, we must give men better surroundings and opportunities. That is a broad and powerful idea.

Then there is education. Its plea is for well trained minds. Has Christianity anything worth as much, or more fundamental than that? Before these and other ideas, the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ stands and asserts the simple truth that the fundamental thing in a man's life is the condition of his own heart. Out of the heart, says the text, are the issues of life. Everything depends on what a man's inner life is. Even the surroundings which he builds for himself depend upon the kind of a man he is. In any life its strength or weakness, its purity or impurity, its wretchedness or joy are the issues of what its inner life is. The good work we do will all flow from the heart that is in us.

This principle of changing life by changing a man's heart, shows itself clearly in the life of Christ. He did the deepest thing, and knew that all other things would flow from it. The text says "keep thy heart," that was the Old Testament way. Guard it, the writer says, from all enemies of evil thought or wrong purpose. That was the best way he knew of to keep a heart pure, but there is a better way. Fill it with what is pure to keep out the impure. To take in good purposes is to save the heart from bad ones, to receive love is to banish hate, to welcome honor is to thrust out dishonor. Out of the inner condition his whole life issues, and if we would make the heart right then we must fill that heart with the life and love of Christ.

MR. HALL PREACHES ON FAITH.

The Size of Foundation He Points Out Fixes Size of Building.

The pastor of Court Street M. E. church delivered a very practical sermon yesterday morning from the topic, "Faith, the Substance of Things Hoped For." The successful men of this world, he said, are men of vision, not visionary men, but men who looking into the future with the eyes of vivid imagination picture the grand possibilities of life. Moses saw in the burning bush a vision of freedom for his people in bondage down in Egypt. The speaker commended to his church visions of prosperity in every department of church work. The word substance in the original means standing under. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, or in other words, faith is the foundation of hope and as vital to successful building of character, as the stones that form the foundation of a building.

ter, as the stones that form the foundation of a building.

Faith is a substantial substance. It is a belief so real that it says "no" to seeming impossibilities. Some things never change. The granite enters into the solid foundation of the building today just the same as in the days of Moses. So faith is today the same unchangeable foundation. But faith is something more, it is an evidence of things not seen. The size of a building is evidenced by the magnitude of the foundation. The size of our faith indicate the size of the building we propose to erect.

Abraham built large because he had large faith. He was willing to offer up his only son Isaac in obedience to the command of God because the promise of God supported him and his faith was equal to the great sacrifice. The word pictures painted by the speaker of Abraham's journey up the mountain with his son Isaac were very real.

In the evening the series of lectures on Pacific parables was continued before a large congregation.

FARMS OVERRUN WITH RATS

Janesville Not the Only Town Where Rodents Are Numerous

The rat infestation that has troubled Janesville this fall is noticed throughout the southern part of the state. Grant county is full of rats. H. C. Bryhan, on a farm two miles from Lancaster, set a trap at the entrance to his corn crib. The first morning he found twenty-three rats in it. The next morning twenty, mostly old ones, so large that two of them were in the first chamber of the trap, there not being room for them to crowd into the second apartment. On the third morning he had nineteen rats. He caught in all 135 rodents. Farmers report their places overrun with the animals.

There is no need of little children being tortured by scold head, eczema and skin eruptions. De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve gives instant relief and cures permanently. C. D. Stevens.

MANY SHAKE HANDS WITH O. F. NOWLAN

CONGRESSMAN COOPER'S ACTION IS INDORSED.

The News Was a Surprise to Everybody, Even to the Successful Candidate—No Change Expected For Some Time to Come—Wilson Will Finish Term

Congratulations poured in on Oscar F. Nowlan yesterday and today over his selection as postmaster. Formal notice of the appointment is expected from Washington in a week or ten days, as Congressman Cooper's letter of recommendation can be passed through the usual channels.

Mr. Nowlan was as much surprised as anybody when he heard of the news Saturday. He was on his way home from the C. & N. W. depot at 5 o'clock when he heard the Gazette carrier boys calling the news in their paper.

Postmaster Wilson's term expires about December 1. He will without doubt be allowed to serve out his time.

In speaking of the nomination the Racine Journal of Saturday says:

"Janesville has been having a big postoffice fight and considerable feeling has existed among the various candidates. This afternoon it was settled when Congressman H. A. Cooper recommended the appointment of Oscar F. Nowlan for the position. Mr. Nowlan is one of Janesville's most prominent citizens and contractors and a message from Janesville says the appointment will give the very best of satisfaction to the majority of the people of that place."

HOUGHTON AT THE MADEIRAS

He Falls In With Brother Masons on the Boat.

From the Madeira Islands off the west coast of Africa, Walter Houghton writes local friends an interesting letter which has just reached Janesville. The boat on which he left England September 28 was the "Mexican."

Mr. Houghton says: "The craft herself was nothing of a great luxury, still all was neat and the board was above the average dollar a day hotel. The passengers included about a dozen different races among the lot being a half dozen Scotchmen who were on their way to Africa where they had a railroad contract to carry out."

Mr. Houghton continues by saying that all six of the men were Masons and when they found he was a brother in the order they manifested warm friendship. Before the boat reached the Madeira island they had offered him a good job.

While crossing the Bay of Biscay west of France Mr. Houghton says that the Atlantic was so rough as to throw passengers from their berths. On reaching Cape Town he will mail his first African letter to America.

A Syndicate to Purchase Klondyke Claims

Late advices from London confirm rumors that have heretofore reached this side of the Atlantic that a financially powerful syndicate is in process of formation in England, France and Germany to buy all the paying claims of miners in the Klondyke region. Of course this will lead to a vast amount of speculative valuation, but there is a claim in the Klondyke, as elsewhere, which it is impossible to underestimate, and that is the claim of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to the foremost place among American remedies for liver complaint. The congested liver derives prompt relief from this genial alternative, which remedies nausea, yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, run upon the tongue, and unpleasant odor of the breath, cures wind, colic, and is the best. It also remedies and prevents malarial and rheumatic ailments, kidney trouble, lack of stamina, dyspepsia and nervousness. Like all standard remedies that have established themselves in popular favor, it deserves a fair and persistent trial.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.

Bread is the staff of life. All right—if it's good Bread. A man can live and thrive on nothing but Bread—if it's good Bread. It is something that has to be studied to be done well. We make good Bread, Pies, Cakes, Cookies and everything a bakery should make. We do nothing else. Day in and day out we do nothing but bake. Isn't it natural that we should do it better than some one who hasn't studied it, and made a business of it?

THE OVERFLOW OF LOCAL NEWS.

SAD FATE.

The New York newspapers recently published the details of the suicide of a society woman who became crazed by headache and drowned herself in the harbor. What a sad end to a life that ought to have been completely happy!

Doubly sad because advanced science could have saved her! Munyon has a specific for all kinds of headache, which cures in three minutes and leaves no depressing effects. One or two doses will stop Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Headaches from Indigestion, Nervousness, Overwork, Colds, Intemperance, or Railroad or Ocean Travel.

In striking contrast to the above sad case is that of Mrs. E. Hardin, 3359 Germantown Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., wife of the Clerk of the Board of Education, who says: "For thirty years I suffered with sick headache, which appeared in attacks of severe pain, so intense that I was obliged to remain in bed for days at a time. These attacks appeared almost every week, and at no time did I ever receive relief, although I consulted the most skilled physicians in the city. The headaches seemed to wear themselves out and then commenced anew. At last I was induced to try Munyon's Headache Cure. The relief was magical and almost instantaneous. I followed up the treatment and was completely cured—for three years have passed and I have had no return of the headaches. I have recommended Munyon's Remedies to a number of my friends, and I have received their most sincere thanks for many wonderful cures that have been accomplished by these little pellets."

Professor Munyon has a separate specific for each disease, the only logical system of medicine.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: "For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years. George W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion."

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: "One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work and I am again gaining flesh and strength."

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky., I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry."

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis. The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvelous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use."

Over six thousand people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894, were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

WITH THE YARDMASTER

THE indescribable terror, the ghost like scream and agonizing blasts of that whistle at the water works, when blown at night, will yet be the cause of some person going before the probate judge to be examined for the temporary oblation of the head.

The following was left on the yardmaster's desk:

Dear Sir—I hear with hand you a poem which I wish you would have struck off the first cold day, as it is intended to be read late in the fall. I wrote it before I thought—it did not have my mind on poetry. It just some how came to me.

"Autumn winds are blowing hard and fast, Hay is higher this year than last, Hog-killing time is nigh at hand, Genug geschäft for the hired man.

It's a cold day in the air, The trees look gray and bare; The robins have nothing to do, Nixum rouse, polly voo polly voo.

Jack Frost has crisped the leaves, Jim wind has bent the trees; The skies show a maddening glow, Vox popul, et ego sapio.

Soon the bed bug will homeward fly, Then, a drummer's voice—peck-a-too. The tramp will seek shelter with his guide; Sic semper tyrannis, sic eni Tigre."

The other day I overheard a conversation between two men on how to swarm a hive of bees. One of them claimed to be very lucky. He said he could locate a bee tree if there was one in the country, and no matter where a swarm might light he could take a box, hive them and never get stung. All this brought to mind my experience with bees. I was a bare footed boy and was always looking for something to take a chance on.

Brother Bill said he knew of a tree where a swarm of bees had settled, and he knew if he worked it right, we could have them. He told me to get a box and take it with me up the tree. The swarm had settled pretty well out on one of the branches. He was to beat on a tin pan all the while so the bees would keep quiet and make it easier for me to coax them into the box. Unfortunately for me a dog fight took place near by and Bill dropped the tin pan to watch the fight. I made a slip and let the box fall on the ground. Then the air was full of bees, and it seemed to me that I did not have long to live. Every bee was in a hurry to do business with me, and a busier lot of bees couldn't be found. When I fell out of the tree I did not stop to light. I kept going until I reached the river. Four weeks later I could see a little out of one eye. Ever since that time if I hear any one beating on a tin pan I break for the brush. Even to hear that endearing term "honey" makes me feel nervous.

My biography recently appeared in a Montana paper. The editor evidently thought I had drifted abroad. This is what he wrote. "He was born on the Isle of Man at the age of six teen. He crossed the Atlantic in two ships, and landed in New York on Sandals. There he secured employment with Delmonico as traveling man in the kitchen. In 1885 he worked four years. In 1890 he worked five years. He then took a two years course on a farm. There he was kicked by a cow and had his leg broken in two places. Once below the knee and once out back of the barn."

WHY WE HOLD THE MARKET.

It is admitted by English authorities that American manufacturers are making their way abroad and competing with those of England even in her own colonies. It is well known that some of our goods are displacing those of England in the export of manufactures to Jamaica, the Leeward Islands, British Honduras and the Windwards. Cape Colony prefers our furniture. Our clocks and watches go to Australia, our lamp-chimneys to Victoria, and our tools and plated goods to Tasmania, Trinidad and Cape Colony. Our sharp-edged tools are in world-wide demand. The British Colonial Office has recently collected data showing that American manufactured goods are competing not only in Great Britain, but in colonies where English goods were once exclusively sold. Our locomotives, electric machinery, bicycles, machine tools and numerous other products stand in a superior class of their own.

This has been accomplished not only in spite of the higher wages paid our workmen, but because of them. The better wages mean a higher grade of comfort for mechanics and a more hopeful and enterprising spirit among them. In protecting American wages we are taking the surest step toward getting hold of the markets of the world. American mechanics are not machines, but the inventive and wide-awake masters of them.

IT HAS COME TRUE.

Comptroller Eckels is a demobrat, but he is able to see that republican promises have been fulfilled in a great measure. He says:

"The improvement has come rapidly and permeates all lines of industry.
It began with the agricultural class.
The farmers have large crops and are getting good prices for them. The cattle-raisers are benefited by a substantial increase in the price of cattle, and the same is true with the sheep raisers. The improvement in agricultural interests has had its effect upon the railroads by increasing their earnings. It has put the money into circulation, and has enabled people to discharge their debts, and thereby benefitted the merchants."

SENATORIAL RESPONSIBILITIES.

If Senator Vilas had ever been tempted to interest himself in pine lands or Wisconsin land grants while in the senate, his case might be offered as a parallel to that of John R.
McLean. The fact that McLean owns the controlling interest in a $5,000,000 gas company in Washington, and also is interested in a $12,000,000 street railway, has suggested to the Ohio people that his real object in wanting to get into the senate is to protect his interests in the District of Columbia, for which congress acts in the same capacity that the common council acts in other cities.

NOT JEFFERSONIAN ENOUGH

Another evidence in support of the constant assertion that Mr. Bryan is really more a populist than democrat is found in the fact that "The Bryan Free Silver Club," Canton, Ohio, which was one of the strongest supporters of Mr. Bryan in last year's campaign has renounced the democracy of Ohio for its inconsistency in naming wealthy bank president for governor and a wealthy monopolist of Washington for senator and has transferred its allegiance to the populist party.

HE SEEKS REVENGE ON MRS. F. W. APP

ANIMUS OF W. B. FINCH'S LETTER SHOWN.

Angry Chicagoan Had the Agency For the European Hotel and Threatened to Make Trouble When It Was Taken Out of His Hands.

Letters from Mrs. Theresa Kenyon-App were received in this city this morning giving a different side of the Finch contention. Mrs. App writes to the Gazette as follows:

Chicago, Oct. 23, Editor Gazette—There have been anonymous letters written to several of Janesville's business men, detrimental to sale of my property, by a man who had the sale of same. I will be able to prove in a short time to the e concerned that statements made in said letters are absolutely false. Mrs. T. W. App.

David Conger who represents Mrs. Kenyon received a long letter from Chicago this morning which throws light on Finch's identity. Mrs. App explains that Finch has no connection with the English heirs but is merely a real estate man who at one time had a contract to sell the property. He was unable to sell it and she was obliged to take it out of his hands. Since then he has been threatening to spoil the sale. He wrote Watts, as will be remembered saying that he would write under the same date to heirs in England advising them of how matters stood. To show the emptiness of his threat his letter to Mr. Holt contained an urgent request that the addressee of the heirs be sent him as he did not have them and had information that would be of value to them.

Mr. Holt turned his letter over to Mrs. Kenyon at once and it was this that gave her warning of what he was doing.

"I am a victim of misplaced confidence," Finch writes in his letter to Holt, showing bitterness over losing the commission on a sale. Mrs. App writes to Mr. Conger that she believes the man is almost unscrupulous as he seems desperate over losing the agency for the property. She sends samples of his handwriting which correspond perfectly to the writing in the letters received by Holt and Watts during the last few days.

In all his letters to Janesville parties Mr. Finch referred to Adam Holt as a witness to irregularities in the transfer. Mr. Holt flatly denied that there was any irregularity.

"I have known every detail as to the change in ownership of the Kenyon property," said Mr. Holt this morning, "and am absolutely sure that the title is all right. If I had any doubt about the title I would hardly be carrying $2,500 loan on the property."

The history of the transfer of the European Hotel property would indicate that the point raised by Finch is utterly without support. The property was deeded by the original owners, Ed and Ellen Griffin, directly to "John Kenyon and Theresa W. Kenyon of the same place." It was not to "John Kenyon and wife." The sale was made to the Kenyons as partners. This was Oct. 2, 1885.

At the time of the transfer to Mrs. Kenyon, Mr. Kenyon was attending to all of his own business, and was perfectly responsible. He came to Mr. Holt himself and said that he had sold out to Mrs. Kenyon, and in order to make the title good, wished to deed to Mr. Holt and to have Holt deed to Mrs. Kenyon. As the law then stood this was the legal way for a husband to give title to real estate to his wife. Mr. Holt says that he is ready to go on the stand and testify that Kenyon was perfectly responsible at the time he made the second deed, and that there was no fraud and no undue influence exerted.

"If I had not thought John was of perfectly sound mind, I would not have had anything to do with it," said Mr. Holt, "and if Mrs. Kenyon had been the one that asked me, that also would have made it different."

While Mr. Holt was in England last summer he saw the Kenyon heirs, children by the first wife, and told them there was nothing for them in Janesville. He explained that Mr. Kenyon left nothing—that all his property had been sold to Mrs. Kenyon during his life.

COMPANY WAS EXONERATED

Jury at Beloit Bring in a Verdict Regarding William Gibson's Death.

W. H. Gibson the town of Beloit farmer who was killed by the cars last Thursday night met his death while on the railroad's right of way. The jury in the case which met in Justice Kendall's office in Beloit brought the following verdict: "That on the 21st day of October, 1897, in the town of Beloit, county of Rock and state of Wisconsin, while on a private right of way of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company the said W. H. Gibson was struck by a north bound train and instantly killed."

Conductor George Devins and Engineer Mahar of this city, who had charge of the train which probably killed Mr. Gibson, were present and testified to having discovered the man lying near the track next morning at 7:30 o'clock, and also to having notified Station Agent Howell of the fact. Engineer Mahar stated that he noticed something on the track which looked like a pile of birds, but could not recognize positively what it was.

JANESVILLE TEAM WON

Crowd Swarmed on the Field and Prevented a Kick For Goal.

Many Janesville people saw the Janesville High school team defeat the Beloit High school by a score of 6 to 4 or 10 to 4 or 16 to 4, according to which story you take of it. A touch-down was made but the crowd swarmed on the field and made it impossible to kick a goal, so that while Janesville won the game the score was not definitely settled. Janesville's first touch-down was made by McDonald in the very beginning of the second half. Mathews kicked goal. A fumble gave the ball to Beloit and they forced it so near to Janesville's goal that it was beginning to look dangerous, but a series of long runs carried the ball back to Beloit's goal where the last touch-down was made. The line up was:

GOODWIN'S GROCERY AIRE

An Over Heated Stove Pipe Caused Nominal Loss Last Evening.

At 10 o'clock last evening an over heated stove pipe in Goodwin's grocery store on Chatham street caused sufficient fire and smoke as to warrant the turning in an alarm. Box 13 was gutted and the flames were extinguished by the use of chemicals after the walls had been scorched. A few dollars will cover the damage, there being ample insurance.

WEPT MRS. HURD

COMPLAINT AGAINST FRED M'ADAMS WAS FALSE.

Milton Woman Broke Down In the Sweat Box and Admitted That There Was No Foundation For Her Charge—Officers Want to Know Her Reason.

When Mrs. Sidney Hurd stated to District Attorney Jackson that she saw McAdams murder William Ewing near Newville on June 15, 1895, she must have forgotten what she learned in Sunday school.

The story she told was a deliberate fabrication. This she now admits but too late to be much good to McAdams who has been subjected to considerable discomfort.

The day before the hearing in this city Mrs. Hurd was put through the "sweat box" treatment and it was while being questioned by District Attorney Jackson and Attorney W. G. Wheeler that she broke into tears and stated that she had told a lie from first to last.

Now the police would like to know what suggested such a lie. They believe there is a pig in the fence some where.

Mrs. Hurd broke down completely while confessing to the district attorney. She sobbed and groaned but refused to tell what led her to cook up such a story or what brought the Newville case into her head.

NEGROS READY FOR PRISON

Came to Janesville Expecting to Be Sentenced This Morning.

Judge Bennett's absence from the city today saved two negroes from going to Waupun. He was called to Baraboo today to preside over the circuit court taking the place of Judge Siebeck, who is kept from duty by his wife's illness.

The men he failed to meet were in no great hurry. They were John L. Johnson aged 30, and Dudley Buckner, aged nineteen, and they are charged with attempted murder.

Johnson comes from Kentucky and Buckner from Alabama. They were in charge of Sheriff T. B. Roche and Under Sheriff F. B. Kiefer of Jefferson.

Both were ready to plead guilty and will be brought down again to receive sentence Nov. 3. The penalty is one to fifteen years.

On the afternoon of October 8, at the Jefferson county fair, Johnson and Buckner got into a quarrel over a game of craps. Buckner stabbed Johnson twice with a knife. Johnson pulled a gun and shot at Buckner six times, two shots striking him in the leg. There was a dense crowd around, for Jefferson county people have not learned Arizona caution, and do not break for shelter when weapons are shown. Oddly enough, nobody was hurt, but there was a feeling that private butchery should be done in a less miscellaneous fashion. The case against the colored men was therefore pushed vigorously.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MET

To Plan For the Meeting of the Rock County Teachers' Association.

The executive committee of the Rock County Teachers' Association met at the high school in Beloit to plan for the meeting of the association in the near future. The committee consisted of Prof. H. C. Buell and Prof. Mayne of this city, Supt. Ross of the west district, Margaret Young-claus of Milton Junction, secretary of the association, Prof. Converse and Supt. Throne, all of whom were present.

Rock county has the largest association in the state and the teachers' meetings have been very interesting and of great benefit to those attending. The committee intend to make the coming institute equally valuable and interesting.

The convention is likely to be a combination of the Rock county and the Southern Wisconsin association conventions. It will be held Saturday, Dec. 4, in this city.

WAITS ON TRACK FOR DEATH

Thomas Howells Found in the Nick of Time By a Farmer.

George Van Antwerp, a town of Fulton farmer discovered Thomas Howells of Butte Montana, standing on a railroad track yesterday about 9:30 a. m. Howells said solemnly that he was waiting to be killed by a train. The St. Paul fast freight was due so he seemed to have a fair chance to realize his ambition.

Mr. Van Antwerp brought the man to this city at noon, and lodged him in jail. He had twenty-five dollars and a railroad ticket in his pocket, and said he had friends in Lanark, Ill., whom he was going to visit.

Farmer Charles Danfeldt was pronounced insane, at the jail today, by Drs. Whiting and Gibson. He demanded a jury trial, which probably will be given him tomorrow.

ARE FEEDING 1,000 SHEEP

Farmers Near Evansville Have Received Big Shipments From Montana.

Ten thousand sheep have been received in Evansville during the last week. They came from Montana and will be fed on farms near Evansville, during the winter. They were bought by four Evansville farmers who went to Montana to pick them up. The price paid was $3 but the price of that grade of stock went up to $3.40 while they were on the road. The sheep will be kept over winter and fattened for the Chicago market and will be shipped to Chicago in the spring. Sheep raising has always been done to considerable extent by Rock county farmers, but John Hurd and others largely interested have always preferred to buy their sheep in Chicago.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

"Marriage is the saving of a young man," said my Aunt Tabitha sententiously.

I assented, for I find it pays to give a ready acquiescence to abstract propositions.

"You must marry," continued my aunt.

"I am still very young," I said meekly.

My aunt turned to my mother. "Whom shall Alfred marry? What do you say to Letitia Brownlow, or Amelia Stafford?"

"Is she not rather"—my mother waved one hand—"and Alfred is so slim."

"I think she has a very fine figure," responded my aunt. "Or there is Gertrude Williams. She will have a fortune if she outlives her sisters."

"There are only five of them," I said hopefully.

"Or Mabel Gordon?"

"No, none of these," I cried decisively.

My aunt looked offended. "Very well, then; choose for yourself," she said tartly.

"Perhaps that would help," I remarked thoughtfully.

"Well," said my aunt impatiently after a short pause, "whom do you suggest?"

I thought for a moment.

"What do you say to Winifred Fraser?"

"That minx!" cried my aunt.

"Oh, Alfred!" echoed my mother.

"Why not?" I asked.

"Such a dreadful family!" said my mother.

"So fast!" interjected my aunt.

"But have you never noticed the sun on her hair?" I asked innocently.

My aunt drew herself up.

"We have not noticed the sun on her hair," she said with much dignity, "nor do we wish to observe the sun on her hair."

I was justly annoyed. "I really think it must be Winifred Fraser," I said.

"She is very fond of me, and"—

"How can you be so cruel to me?" cried my mother. "Have you noticed how gray my hair is getting? You will not have me long." She drew out her handkerchief.

"You will come to a bad end," said my aunt. "I always thought you were depraved. If you marry that painted hussy, you must not expect my countenance."

"Under the circumstances, I will not marry Winifred Fraser," I said with great magnanimity, for I did not particularly want my aunt's countenance.

My aunt sniffed. "You had better not."

"I merely joked," I said soothingly, remembering she had not made her will.

"Indeed!"

"The truth is"—I dropped my voice—"I am in love with some one else."

"And you never told me," said my mother reproachfully.

"The girl I love is not free."

"Married!" cried my aunt.

"Not married—but engaged."

"Who is it?" asked my mother gently.

I was silent for a moment, and then I sighed.

"It is Constance Burleigh."

"It would have been a most suitable match," murmured my mother.

"Very suitable," repeated my aunt.

There was a momentary silence, broken by my aunt.

"I did not know Constance was engaged."

"It is a secret. You must not repeat what I have told you."

"I don't like these secret engagements," said my aunt brusquely. "Who told you?"

"She told me herself."

"Who is the man?"

"I do not think I should repeat his name."

"I hope Constance is not throwing herself away."

I shook my head doubtfully.

"You know the man?"

I nodded.

"Is he quite—quite?"

Again I shook my head doubtfully.

"What have you heard?" my aunt asked eagerly.

"I don't think I ought to repeat these things."

"You can surely trust your mother," murmured my mother.

"And my discretion," said my aunt.

"Well," I said, "I have been told he is cruel to his mother."

"Really!" cried the two ladies in a breath.

"His mother told me so herself."

"How sad!" said my mother.

"And what else?" asked my aunt.

"Another relation of his told me he was depraved."

"Poor, poor Constance!" whispered my mother.

"And would probably end badly."

"I expect he drinks," said my aunt grimly.

"Does Constance know this?" asked my mother.

"I don't think so."

"You did not tell her?"

"Of course not."

"I consider it your duty to."

"I really cannot."

"Then I will," said my aunt resolutely.

"What I have said has been in confidence."

"I do not care."

"I beg you not to do so."

"It is my duty. I am too fond of Constance to allow her to throw herself away on this worthless man."

I shrugged my shoulders. "Do as you please, but don't mention my name. By the way, Constance said she would probably call this afternoon."

At that moment the bell rang.

"That may be she," said my aunt, flying to the window. "It is."

I got up slowly and sauntered into the conservatory, which adjoins the drawing room. From behind a friendly palm I could see without being seen. I saw my aunt look toward my mother.

"If we open her eyes," I heard her whisper, "it may pave the way for Alfred."

My mother said nothing, but I saw the same hope shine from her eyes.

The door opened, and the servant announced Constance. She came forward with a little eager rush, then stopped short, embarrassed by the want of reciprocity.

"We are glad to see you," said my mother, and kissed her.

My aunt came forward. "We were just speaking of you," she said sententiously. "Sit down."

Constance looked a little crestfallen. "I thought Alfred would have told you," she murmured.

"We have heard"—beginning my aunt—"Hush," interposed my mother.

"Come nearer me, Constance. What you take off your hat?"

Constance came and sat by her side.

"I was anxious to come and tell you that—that"

"If you are alluding to your engagement," said my aunt somewhat severely, "we have already heard of it."

"You have heard!" cried Constance. "With the deepest sorrow."

Constance drew herself up.

"You do not approve?" she asked proudly.

"We love you too much," said my mother gently.

Constance looked bewildered.

"You are too good for the wretch," cried my aunt.

"What! Oh, what do you mean?" exclaimed Constance.

"If you marry this man," continued my aunt vigorously, "you will regret it."

My mother took her hand. "My sister should not tell you this so suddenly."

"It is my duty to speak, and I will," cried my aunt. "I will not let Constance unite herself to this man with her eyes closed."

"What have you against him?" demanded Constance, a red spot beginning to burn in each cheek.

"He drinks," answered my aunt almost triumphantly.

Constance sank back in the cushions. "I don't believe it," she said faintly.

"He ill treats his mother—beats her, I believe," continued my aunt.

"This cannot be true," cried Constance. "Mrs. Granville, tell me."

My mother nodded sadly.

"Alas! I cannot deny it."

Constance rose. "This is awful!" she said, holding on to the back of the sofa.

"I could never have believed it." She put her hand to her forehead. "It is like a bad dream."

"My poor, dear Constance," murmured my mother, rising and putting her arms round her.

My aunt brought up her artillery. "He is thoroughly depraved and will come to a bad end. His relations are at one on this point."

Constance buried her face in my mother's bosom. "Oh, dear; oh, dear! And I love him so!" she sobbed.

In the adjoining room I was becoming uncomfortable.

"We thought it right to tell you," said my aunt, moved by her tears, "though Alfred begged and implored us not to."

"I could never, never have believed it," sobbed Constance. "Poor, poor Mrs. Granville!"

My mother soothed her.

"How difficult you must have felt it to tell me this!" exclaimed Constance, drying her tears. "It was so good of you. I will not give him another thought. To treat his mother so cruelly! Oh, Mrs. Granville, I am so sorry for you!"

"It is I who am sorry for you," said my mother doubtfully.

"And no one would have dreamed it. We always thought you were so fond of him and spoiled him so utterly. And all the time you were hiding your sorrow. How noble of you!"

My mother looked at Aunt Tabitha, who returned her stare.

"Who ever is it?" said Aunt Tabitha, whispering. "Find out."

"Where did you meet him, dearest?" whispered my mother.

"Meet him? Why, here, of course," said Constance, with opening eyes.

"Yes, yes, of course," said my mother, mystified.

"I thought you would be so pleased, and I hurried across to tell you."

"Can Alfred have made a mistake?" muttered my aunt hoarsely.

The two elder ladies stood still in the utmost embarrassment.

"I shall never be happy again," said Constance mournfully.

"Don't say that," implored my mother. "Perhaps there is a mistake."

"How can there be a mistake?" asked Constance, raising her head.

"There can be no mistake," said my aunt hastily.

"How could he be cruel to you?" cried Constance, kissing my mother.

"Cruel to me!" cried my mother.

"You said he was cruel to you."

"Of whom are you speaking?" cried both ladies.

"Of Alfred, of course."

The two elder ladies sat down suddenly.

"You are not engaged to Alfred?" they gasped simultaneously.

"To whom else?" said Constance in amazement.

"There is some misunderstanding," I observed smoothly, coming in at the moment.

The three fell upon me together.

It took at least an hour to explain. Yet I had said nothing which was not strictly true.

"You will not allow these practical jokes when you are married, will you, Conny?" said my mother fondly.

"I will not," replied Constance, tightening her lips.

"Marriage is the saving of a young man," repeated my aunt grimly.—Chambers' Journal.

intends to have in her platform. She is a warm advocate of woman's rights and prohibition and she is an uncompromising agnostic. This ambitious Kentucky woman is the daughter of a Mississippi steamboat captain. She is well educated, accomplished and an advanced thinker. She is a skillful musician and has acquired no little fame as a poetess.

A Hawaiian Princess.

Princess Kiaulani, heir apparent to the nonexistent throne of Hawaii, who is soon to visit this country, has not seen her native land for seven years, having been in England getting an education. The princess will soon reach her twenty-second year. She is a typical al Hawaiian beauty—tall, graceful and of fine figure. Her father is the Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, a gentleman of British birth, but long a resident of the Sandwich Islands and a man of great wealth. Her mother was the Princess Miriam Likelike, a sister of the late King Kalakaua.

A Rich California Mine.

Coffee creek, on which the recent rich gold strike has been made, is a tributary of Trinity river, which flows for 130 miles through Trinity and Humboldt counties, Cal., and empties into the Klamath river, which in turn finds its way to the Pacific ocean. The most ex-

Awful Pains.

A gentleman who had married his cook was giving a dinner party, and between the courses the good lady sat with her hands on the table.

Suddenly the conversation ceased, and a young man on the right of the hostess said:

"Awful pause."

"Yes," said the ci-devant cook, with heightened color, "and yours would be like mine if you had done half as much work."—Spare Moments.

Inevitable.

"Perhaps you would like to do the shopping for the family yourself!" she exclaimed.

"Perhaps you would like to undertake the responsibility of providing the funds," he retorted.

Then they both shuddered and realized that there was no use of trying to settle the question. It was the old, old dispute between capital and labor.—Washington Star.

Some Satisfaction.

Mrs. Bridewell—I'm glad I wasn't born in France. Just think of having your husband selected for you by somebody else!

Mrs. Oldham—I know; but there's the consolation of having somebody to blame it on to.—Judge.

Father to the Man.

"He'll be a wheelman when he grows up," chuckled Mr. Sprockets, as he dandled his five-months-old child.

"How do you know?" asked Mr. Sprockets.

"Just listen to his bawl-bearing mouth."—N. Y. Journal.

The Two-Eighty-Eight Story.

"Have you heard the 288 story?"

"No. What is it?"

"I don't care to tell you; it is too gross."

"I know you are aching to tell me; so don't pretend to be squeamish."

"Then here goes; 288 is twice 144—two gross. Do you see?"—Independent.

A Lucky Disaster.

"How is your wife coming on with her cooking lessons?"

"She burned her biscuits this morning."

"Too bad!"

"No, it wasn't. It gave me a good excuse for not eating them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Large Returns.

Mabel—No, I am sure it isn't.

Edith—How do you know?

SUMPTUOUS.

His Terms.

Mrs. De Fashion—I give a little reception next Thursday evening and I would like some music, piano solos particularly. What would be your terms?

Prof. Pianissimo—Eef I go zero simply as a musician, and blay my selections and leave, I gharze twenty-five tollars; but eef I must go as a guest and spend ze whole evenings talking to von pack of fools, I gharze fifty tollars.—N. Y. Weekly Defining His Affliction.

"A man is always such a fool," sputtered Mrs. Kitzer, whose son has shown marked preference of late for a striking blond. "Once let him get infatuated with a woman, and he's absolutely blind to her faults."

"No; only deaf, my dear," responded Mr. Kitzer. "He declines to take other people's words for them."—Chicago Journal.

A Lost Opportunity.

Why weeps the woman comfortless? Her hands why doth she wring? The paper's full of bargain ads.—She doesn't need a thing.—Chicago Journal.

HIS CHANCE.

He (tentatively)—They say kissing is dangerous.

She (naively)—What opportunities it affords for the display of courage!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Different from Some Cows.

You will notice in life's voyage, While floating down the stream, That the milk of human kindness Seldom raises any cream.—Chicago News.

Never Satisfied.

"There's no such thing as satisfying some people," said the iceman, as he looked the second time at the scales to make sure that he hadn't given the right weight; "in summer time people grumble because the ice at their door runs away, and in winter they kick because it don't."—Yonkers Statesman.

An Unfeeling Husband.

Mrs. Bickers—Is my hat on straight? Mr. Bickers—It is on as straight as could be expected.

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well, you couldn't expect your hat to be on perfectly straight, because you haven't got a level head."—N. Y. Journal.

A New Danger.

Little Elmer Duak (rushing in)—Oh, ma, there is a ragged old man out by the gate who says he is a Klondike sufferer! Shall I let the dog loose?

Mrs. Dunk—No, indeed! They eat dogs up there, and your father paid ten dollars for Watch.—N. Y. Journal.

She Was Getting Suspicious.

Mr. Sprightly—Well, you know, my love, even the devil's not as black as he's painted.

Mrs. S—I don't know about that, but I know he's a good deal blacker than he paints himself.—Detroit Free Press.

The Earnest Youth.

"I thank you, sir, for your kind permission to call on your daughter."

"Remember that I turn out the gas at ten o'clock."

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test. GAZETTE P'T'G CO.

Russian Blouses.

We show the nobbiest line in town, among them being some of the higher class that are gems of the cloak makers' art—exclusive styles direct from New York. A line for Misses' wear in sizes 14, 16 and 18 also in stock.

Coats for Girls.

Three hundred sample Coats for Misses, sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, inexpensive garments for school wear that are proper as regards style and make up. Cute Coats, ranging in price from $3 to $10, that would ordinarily be one-third more. Tell the girls to call in after school and see them.

Flannellette Wrappers.

The new line is in, and it displays well made Wrappers in a splendid range of patterns; all sizes, 32 to 44. All of the regular styles in Print Wrappers are shown—75c and up.

Silk Waists.

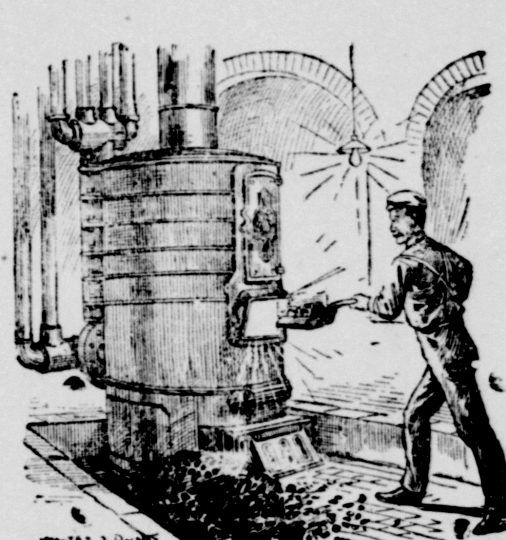

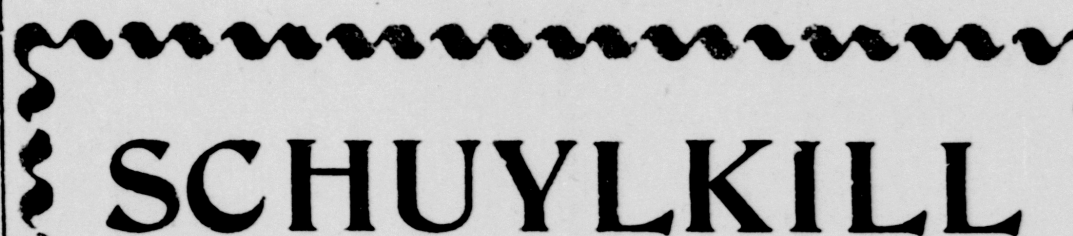

There is an air about the line we handle that attracts. Other stores show waists, but there is something lacking in them when compared to ours. The talk of the town among women is the excellence of our waist showings. All the latest in blouse effects are in the line.

Our Millinery

Is Parisian in everything but price—and the difference in the latter is all in the favor of our customers. No prettier, more stylish hats than ours could be obtained in Paris at four times the cost. We are showing copies of the best creations of the leading modistes at a fraction of the price you would have to pay for the originals. Better not buy your new hat without coming here first.

Comforter Coverings.

Another sale of them this week. About ten days ago we advertised a lot of prints for comforter coverings and dress purposes, expecting we had enough to last a week; but at the end of the first days' sale they were about cleaned out, with the result that many customers were disappointed. Direct from the mill we have received another two case lot consisting of 3000 yards, if anything a better lot than before; colors are black and white, silver greys, blues, reds, &c. They are Simpson's best standard prints and usually retail at 6c; for this sale price will be the same as at the former sale 3 1/2c—per yard.

Is free from slate, burns well, and is safe to buy.

THE PROPHETS GUESS WELL. . . .

Good times are returning if our business can be used as a barometer. Or, perhaps, it's the buying of honest goods that makes the selling easy, but even then the prices must be low. For lo, these many years,

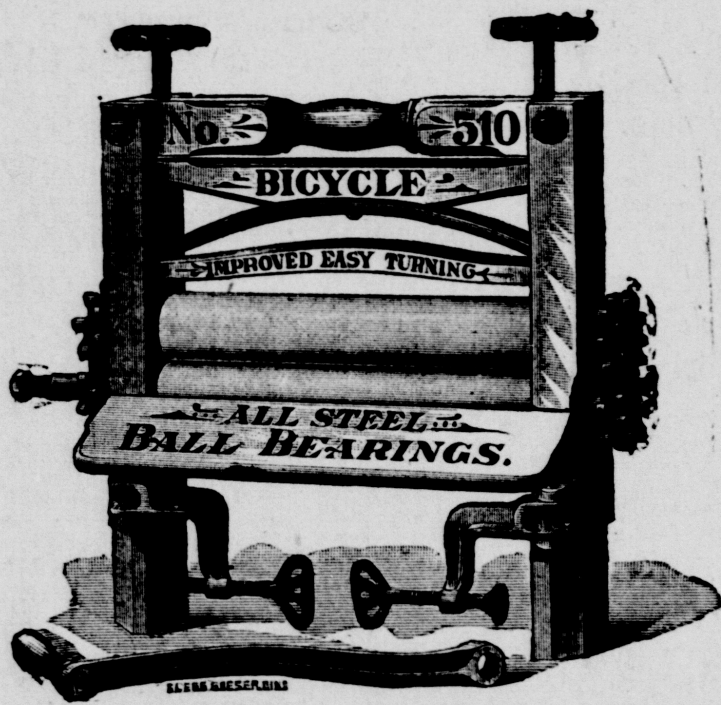

Such Stove business has not been seen in these parts.

Truly wonderful the way we have been selling Stoves this season; a metropolitan business you might say. The railroad people say we receive more goods these days than any other house in town. Come down some morning and watch the goods come in. Guess you will find them right. PRICES TELL BETTER THAN WORDS. We are never undersold. Quality you must have, even at low prices.

Garlands, Jewels, Jewetts, Round Oak, Radiant Home, Riverside Oak, Red Cross.

Nothing outside of these makes better, many of them inferior. Lowell always gets what he goes after. He is out for business this year--Stove business--and he is getting it too. The wind blows hard in some parts of the city, but find substance mixed with breeze at Lowell's. The people believe in Lowell. Great many people want Second Hand Stoves. We are after those people also. The greatest line of Second Hand Cookers and Heaters in fine condition, at most any price.

THE BICYCLE WRINGER--A REVOLUTION IN WASHING...

It's a pleasure instead of a hardship to do the washing with Ball Bearing Bicycle Wringers. Large invoice just in; don't fail to see them.

Tin Shop running nights to keep up with orders, but notwithstanding this fact, we can take care of your work; never too busy.

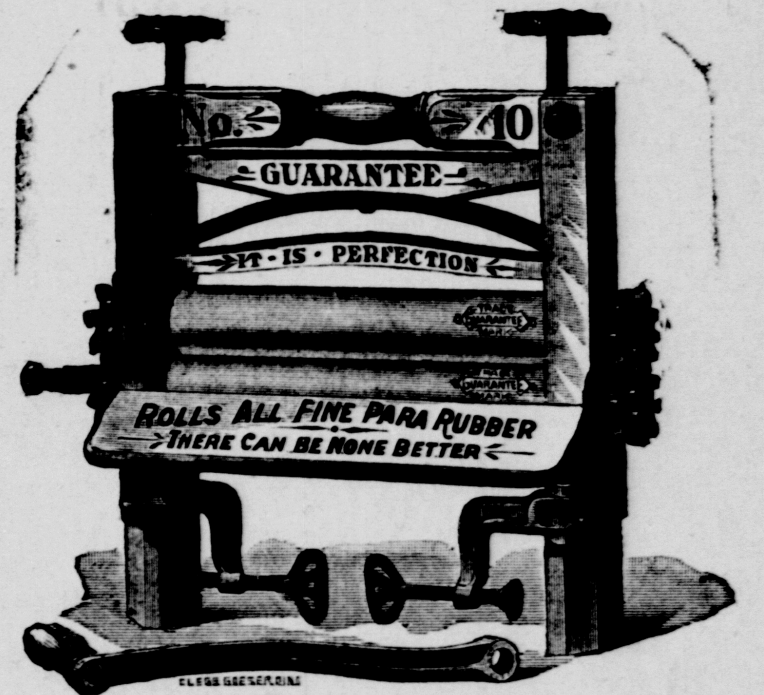

Gilt Edge Furnaces are built on carefully studied ideas. That they heat well and save coal is evidenced by the hundreds sold in the city.
